

Invitation Materials

Author:

- 1 Traditionally, John, “the beloved disciple” (21:20-24), who is also credited with writing three epistles and the Book of Revelation.

Date:

Uncertain, estimates range from A.D. 70 to mid 90s.

Theme:

Jesus is the giver of life.

Historical Background:

- 1 Of all the Gospels, John is most clearly not meant to be a chronological account of Jesus’ life.
- 2 It is a meditation on the significance of Jesus’ death - a reality which is present right from the beginning of the Gospel (e.g., 1:29)

Characteristics

- 1 The action centers in Jerusalem rather than in Galilee as in Matthew, Mark and Luke.
- 2 Jesus’ teaching is given in long discourses instead of parables.
- 3 The call to faith and the promise of eternal life are repeatedly stressed.
- 4 Stories not in the synoptic Gospels about people like Nicodemus, the woman at the well, and Lazarus are highlighted.
- 5 The “I Am” statements of Jesus, as well as the prologue (1:1-18) are unique.
- 6 Irony, words with double meanings, and metaphors invite the reader to reflect the richness and depth of Jesus.
- 7 Chapters 1-12 focus on a few public miracles which are expressly meant as “signs” pointing to Jesus’ identity, while in chapters 13-21, Jesus is basically alone with his disciples teaching them about his mission, the Holy Spirit, and his command to love.
- 8 Years of studying John “do not leave one with a feeling of having mastered it, but rather with the conviction that it is still strange, restless, and unfamiliar.” Morris.

Open

- 1 When you get a new car, appliance, tool or toy, are you the type that reads the instructions carefully before attempting to use it, or you only need those when it breaks?

Dig

- 1 Skim 1:1-18, what facts does John emphasize here?
- 2 Skim through the paragraph titles in 1:19-12:50, what miracle or character especially strikes you? Why?
- 3 Read Jesus' seven "I am" statements (6:35; 8:12; 8:58; 10:7; 10:11; 11:25; 14:6). How do you feel?

Reflect

- 1 What do you expect will change in your life if you reread "the owner's instruction manual" and got to know his Son better?
